Dear Mr. Tu,

Please find here an exFAT 320 GB hard drive, compatible with Macintosh or Windows systems. The outside of the hard drive is labeled with the case number, your name, and my name. There is about 300 GB of data saved onto the disk. This is the beginnings of discovery material and potential evidence for Mult Co Case No 23CV20288 in which I am the plaintiff and you represent defendant City of Portland. There is still more work to be done, but because in your court documents you have questioned whether I have a factual basis for my claims, and because I have requested injunctive relief from the court, and because I have collected a lot of documents over the years, I want to make sure you have access to some of what I am working with.

The top level folders are labeled "discovery_23CV20888" (30.5 GB) and "roxy" (253 GB). The folder labeled Roxy contains a number of subfolders. The subfolder labeled "Roxy injuries" is the largest (252 GB), and contains images and videos of Roxy, mostly made in order to show the types of attacks that Roxy experiences. Some images show Roxy in a state of health, but most show the visual effects of the biomedical torture she's been forced to experience for most of her life and especially over the past two years. The "roxy" directory is further divided into chronological subdirectories ranging from 2009 to 2013, and there are entries as recent as this morning, November 13, 2023. Other subdirectories within the "roxy" folder contain Roxy's veterinarian records, police reports, reports to and from Multnomah County Animal Services, and unanswered correspondence sent from me to OHSU asking for assistance in locating and identifying biomedical devices.

There is a folder called 2014-2023_injuries_to_Erika (1.89 GB) This documentation needs more work but it shows some of the visible injuries that I have experienced which have a lot of similarities to Roxy's injuries. With regards to what I've been suffering, I'd also draw your attention to a PDF document in the directory titled "2017_directed_energy_attacks" titled "2017-2018_year_in_the_life." This 60 page document is content taken directly from journals that I kept between May 2017 and May 2018 and is intended to show some of what I've been suffering, as well as some of the process I've gone through in trying to figure out and understand what is going on. This was an important period of time because it was in 2017 that I became aware of the existence and use of biomedical implants. In October 2017 I purchased a bug detector and found wireless signals coming from specific locations in my body which had been associated with pain and injury. In the directory titled 2017_aircraft+biomedical_attacks there are videos of me using the bug detector to pick up signals from my head (including ears, eyes, nose), neck, and legs.

2022 was another important year because that was the year that I figured out how such devices could be hidden from normal medical imaging such as x-rays. 2022 is also the year that I first saw the shadow of what appears to be a biomedical implant on a dental x-ray. When I tried to get a second x-ray to confirm this, it appears the x-ray machine had been adjusted to overexpose and thus sabotage the second x-ray. Based in part on the results of endeavors such as this, 2022 is also the year that I really began to understand the size and scope of the conspiracy involved. Attacks to Roxy became severe in 2022 and though there has been an ebbing and flowing, the attacks remain severe. I have experienced daily attacks to my eyes and brain through implants in my head and dental work, especially since 2022.

Based on various behaviors, I've connected the use of biomedical implants with a network of drones and other aircraft which I first became aware of in 2017. There is some information about these in the drive.

The directory titled 1962-2023_biomedical_transducers has some information about how biomedical implants have been used to control emotional states and behavior in animals and humans going back to research of Walter Rudolf Hess in the 1920s, and made more well known by Jose Delgado in the 1960s. Hess conducted much of his research on cats. Delgado also researched on cats though he also used monkeys and human beings in his studies. In the early 1960s he famously stopped a bull from charging at him using a wireless controller.

The control of thoughts, emotions, and behaviors is an important issue though it's not the core of my complaint against the city of Portland – my most imminent concern has to do with physical attack, tissue damage, torture, and induction of disease through these biomedical weapons systems. This is what Roxy and I are suffering from day and night, constantly. We are both desperate for these attacks to end.

Documents in this drive go back to 2014 and so they are written in various states of understanding. Because there has been a lot of fraudulent misrepresentation, sometimes I've made errors. Generally speaking, I would say that clarity has come over time and so documents I've created more recently are apt to make better inferences than those created earlier. I am happy to answer any questions about any of these documents or the situations that gave rise to them.

Thank you,

Erika Meyer
